

Dee Ann Stricklett's deep and thorough knowledge base on the topic of leadership is matched only by her ability to present and facilitate individuals through a thought-provoking and rewarding learning experience. Dee Ann's passion for the field of leadership helps to relay the importance of being authentic and transformational when in this role. Her strength in building relationships and community within a group of learners supports the process of self-reflection and action planning as groups invested in the work, plan to move their teams forward with effective leadership practices. I would highly recommend Dee Ann for your organization's next professional learning event.
